HON. ANSON BURLINGAME.

Reception of His Remains—Departure for Boston.

A large number of distinguished citizens, representing the Chamber of Commerce and the Union League Club, embarked on the revenue cutter Beaux, Capt. Constable, at the Battery, yesterday afternoon, and was subsequently taken on board of the German steamer Silesia, at Hoboken, for the purpose of receiving the remains of the late Mr. Burlingame. In addition to the gentlemen named as funeral escort in the Times of yesterday, there was also present on the occasion Gen. N. P. Banks, Gen. McDowell and Gen. McClellan, beside numerous private friends of the deceased Minister. The Boston City Council was also represented on the mournful occasion by Alderman F. W. Jacob and Councilmen Hollis R. Gray and F. Williams, and the Governor of Massachusetts by Adjutant-General Cunningham and Maj. Capello of his staff. At the time of the arrival of the escort on the Silesia, the gangway of the vessel was draped in mourning, the flags were at half-mast, and the officers and crew were assembled on the main deck, with heads uncovered, surrounding the coffin, which lay inclosed in a large black case, studded with silver stars. An American flag also covered the coffin. An address was made by Mr. Wm. E. Dodge, President of the Chamber of Commerce, who said that, although it was only right that the illustrious dead should receive marks of respect at the hands of all citizens of New York, it was felt that anything like a procession or formal display, at this time, would be unnecessary, and therefore they had met in this quiet way. Several persons were deeply affected during the delivery of the remarks. The ceremony of transferring the coffin to the revenue cutter was then performed by means of ropes and hooks attached to the yardarm. It was conducted in a very impressive manner. The remains were subsequently conveyed on board of the steamer Providence, and were taken charge of by the Massachusetts escort, together with Gen. Banks, Mr. Isaac Livermore, father-in-law of Mr. Burlingame, and Mr. E. L. Burlingame, son of the deceased. The steamer sailed for Boston with the remains at 4 o'clock. On her departure the flags on several vessels in the river and bay were placed at half-mast. Previous to the transfer of the body Gen. Banks presented the regrets of the Vice-President, Speaker Blaine, and of the Congressional delegation from Massachusetts for being compelled to absent themselves from the ceremony on account of official business.

Boston, April 28.—The remains of the late Anson Burlingame, on their arrival to-morrow morning, will be deposited in Faneuil Hall, which, on Friday, will be open to the public. A guard of honor, detailed from the cadets, will pay military respects, and the Company will act as an escort at the funeral on Saturday.
